

CELEBS

celebs.gather.comcelebrities | celebrity | commentary | gossip | news | top stories | tabloids

Search group

Go

Kate Middleton, Bobbi Kristina Are Twinsies (Sort Of!)

by Linda ShawMember since:
June 17, 2010

Kate Middleton and Bobbi Kristina Brown, Whitney Houston's daughter, have something in common. The newly engaged teen and the Duchess of Cambridge apparently have the same taste in jewelry. Reports are stating that Bobbi Kristina's engagement ring, given to her by her "adopted brother" Nick Gordon, is an exact replica of Kate's stunner of a ring. The only difference is a few carats (Kate's is bigger).

GATHER
NEWS*CELEBS

"It's a definite copy of her ring," Anthony Sarkissian of Premier Jewelry Lenders in Beverly Hills said. "The shape of the stone, the way it's set, having it made in platinum, the thinness of the shank ... it's a carbon copy of [Kate's ring]."

For some reason Kate Middleton's ring looks a lot nicer than Bobbi Kristina's.

So how do you think that Bobbi Kristina's new fiancé, who doesn't have a job, bought the expensive 13.5 carat ring? Did he borrow money from one of the Houston's or did Whitney leave him some money in her estate?

Maybe Bobbi Kristina picked out and paid for the ring herself. Who knows, right?

Who's ring to do you like better: Kate's original or Bobbi Kristina's copy?